Assistant Professor of Art History and Criticism

POSITION:
Oklahoma State University in Stillwater invites applications for a full-time, tenure track Assistant Professor in the global field of contemporary art, with preference for a background in museum studies or related professional experience. The successful candidate will teach undergraduate courses and participate in the MA degree program in Art History (including the certificate in Museum Studies) that focuses on global connections and cross-cultural influences. We are particularly interested in candidates whose research and teaching areas complement those of the current faculty, contributing to the diversity and relevance of the curriculum at both undergraduate and graduate levels. The successful candidate will also have the opportunity to work with the OSU Museum of Art collections and exhibition program. The 2/2 teaching load will include upper division undergraduate and graduate courses as well as lower division courses. Duties will also include service to the department, college, and university through committee appointments and other related activities. Startup funds and other funding opportunities are available to incoming faculty.

QUALIFICATIONS AND APPLICATION PROCEDURES:
Candidates must have a Ph.D. by the time of appointment and should be able to demonstrate teaching experience as well as evidence of research and publication potential.

Applications must be submitted through http://artokstate.slideroom.com
To initiate application, submit the following items:
- Cover Letter: expressing interest in the position and summarizing qualifications according to position description.
- Curriculum Vitae
- Teaching Philosophy (1 page)
- Diversity Statement (1 page)
- Research sample (dissertation chapter, journal article, or equivalent)
- Three references: include names, titles, e-mail addresses, and phone numbers

Review of applications will begin December 30, 2019 and will continue until the position is filled. Preliminary individual interviews will be held via videoconference in early 2020. This position is contingent upon availability of funding.
